The Cincinnati Gazette of Monday says:—

The Boston Post, in its weekly review of finance and and trade, says:-

At present money is exceedingly dull and abundant, at 5 to 6 per cent to first class borrowers, on call or on time; and with the present condition of home trade, it seems almost impossible that the market can become much more triggent until other unfavorable elements are added to the withdrawal of heavy balances owed abroad, and to the lack of confidence growing out of a state of war, or of a fear thereof, throughout Europe. Until, therefore, the fall imports come in, and until money is sent Westward in large quantities for the movements of crops, and until the autumn trade commences in full force, we think the money market will experience no special change. The gold exports, though likely to be large during the summer, will scarcely offset the remittances from Culifornia, and the large stocks of specie on the sea board, therefore, may not be materially diminished for months to come. Sterling bills are above the specie mark, but the bulk of the mercantile remittances have been made, while the high rates check transactions wherever delay is possible. With the July interest, payments abroad, and with diminishing cotton exports, however, the chances of a decline in foreign exchange are small.

NEW YORK CATTLE MARKET. WEDNESDAY, May 11, 1859. BEEF CATFLE.

influence at the Bull's Head this morning, there having prevailed a good demand from the early hours until the close of the day. The demand was more than usually active on Monday and Tuesday, and the sales, to a fair extent, at full prices. We have rarely seen the offerings of so good an average quality as they were to day, and it is very seldom that prices range as high. The general selling prices were from 11c. to 12c., and there were occabut a moderate attendance, in consequence of the large sales of Monday and Tuesday; but prices were very firm, notwithstanding. We understood that there were some cattle yarded which would not be offered until next week, cattle yarded which would not be obsered until next week, but some of them were offered to-day, the high prices proving too great a temptation to owners to permit them to keep their cattle over for an uncertain market, even though with a good prospect of obtaining advanced rates. The total number on sale at the Washington yard, for the week, was 2,593 head; and at all the yards, 2,761 week, was 2,593 head; and at all the yards, 2,761 head, against 2,640 head last week. The sales at Bergen Hill on Monday were —— head, and prices but did not vary from our range below. At Browning's the demand was active, and prices realized were about the same as those at the Washington yard. At Chamberlin's there were offered but thirty five head, all of which were disposed of at prices within the range of 10-5/c. a 12c. per pound. The demand was moderately active, and there were not sufficient on sale to satisfy the existing wants of the trade. O'Brien also offered but a small number, and butchers who usually buy at the lower yards were compelled to repair to the forty fourth street yard, in order to procure a supply for the ensuing week. Prices were about the same as at the other yards. Sales at Bergen Hill, on Monday, 21s head. The total receipts at all the yards for the week and last week were as follows:—

SHEEF AND LAMES.

The receipts have been light and the demand more active at a slight improvement in prices. The quality continues fair, and sales are readily effected at our range of prices elsewhere. Lambs are coming in more treely, chiefly from New Jersey, and are selling readily at $3 to $5 per head. Sheep are also selling freely at from $4 to $6 a $6 60, the latter only for the best offerings. The total receipts at all the yards for the week and last week were as follows:
